

YORK UNIVERSITY, School of Kinesiology and Health Science, Faculty of Health, Toronto, Ontario

The School of Kinesiology and Health Science invites applications for a tenure-track professorial position in Sport, Physical Activity/Culture and Indigenous Health at the rank of Assistant/Associate Professor to commence July 1, 2019. We seek an outstanding scholar to join a growing and dynamic School that is ranked as the top Kinesiology program in Canada and 18th in the world.

Candidates should show excellence or promise of excellence in scholarly research and in teaching and be eligible for prompt appointment to the Faculty of Graduate Studies. We seek a candidate with expertise and experience in the critical socio-cultural study of sport, physical activity/culture and health focused on Indigenous (aboriginal) populations. Research and teaching experience on policy analysis, development and implementation will be considered an asset. Applicants must demonstrate critical research and teaching capacity in sport and/or physical activity/culture as means of improving health outcomes for Indigenous peoples and communities. Applicants must also demonstrate or show promise of ability to build strong connections with local Indigenous nations and Indigenous students.

Candidates should hold a PhD in a relevant discipline (e.g., Kinesiology, Indigenous Studies, Social Work, Sociology, Political Science, Public Health, etc.) so long as their research and teaching expertise is focused on sport, physical activity/culture and health as related to Indigenous peoples. PhD candidates are welcome to apply with evidence of completion by July 1, 2019. Post-doctoral experience will be considered an asset.

Salary will be commensurate with qualifications and experience. All York University positions are subject to budgetary approval. Further information about the School of Kinesiology and Health Science can be obtained at www.kinesiology.yorku.ca and www.yorku.ca/kahs.

The deadline for receipt of applications is November 16, 2018. Applicants should send a covering letter specifying the position(s) for which they are applying, an up-to-date curriculum vitae, a statement of teaching goals, a statement of research program goals, three relevant reprints, and provide contact information for three referees to: Dr. Angelo Belcastro, Chair, School of Kinesiology and Health Science, York University, 4700 Keele Street, Toronto, Ontario M3J 1P3 (kinchair@yorku.ca).

This selection will be limited to Aboriginal (Indigenous) peoples. York University values diversity and encourages candidates from Aboriginal (Indigenous) communities to self-identify as a member of one or more of the four designated groups: Aboriginal (Indigenous) Peoples, women, visible minorities (members of racialized groups) and persons with disabilities. Qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadian citizens, Permanent Residents and Indigenous peoples of Canada will be given priority. Applicants wishing to self-identify can do so by downloading, completing and submitting the forms found at: <http://acadjobs.info.yorku.ca/>. Please select the "Affirmative Action" tab under which forms pertaining to Citizenship and Affirmative Action can be found.

York University acknowledges its presence on the traditional territory of many Indigenous Nations. The area known as Tkaronto has been care taken by the Anishinabek Nation, the Haudenosaunee Confederacy, the Huron-Wendat, and the Métis. It is now home to many Indigenous Peoples. We acknowledge the current treaty holders, the Mississaugas of the New Credit First Nation. This territory is subject of the Dish With One Spoon Wampum Belt Covenant, an agreement to peaceably share and care for the Great Lakes region. York University supports Indigenous research and education through its Indigenous Framework for York University, the Centre for Aboriginal Student Services, the York Aboriginal Council, and Skennen'kó:wa Gamig, or the House of Great Peace, a space for Indigenous faculty, staff, and students. York is committed to fostering understanding of, respect for and connections with Indigenous communities; and the University is working to support the recruitment and success of Indigenous undergraduate and graduate students, the integration of Indigenous cultures, approaches and perspectives into curricular offerings and research, collaboration with indigenous communities, and recruitment and retention of Indigenous faculty and staff.
